2014 NAFCD + NBMDA Annual Convention Registration Open

CHICAGO – Registration for the 2014 NAFCD + NBMDA Annual Convention is now open. Taking place November 18-20 at the Sheraton Dallas Hotel in Dallas, Texas, this event brings together hundreds of the top decision makers from leading distribution and manufacturing companies across North America.

The 2014 NAFCD + NBMDA Annual Convention is an intimate and focused event that allows attendees to build new relationships, enhance their business strategy and conduct meaningful business planning face to face. Attendees who register by September 16 save $100 and those who register multiple participants will receive a discount after the second registration. Qualified first-time distributor attendees can register at no charge.

Held in conjunction with the NAFCD + NBMDA Annual Convention is the 2014 Distribution Management University (DMU). Enroll branch and operations managers in the 2014 DMU and realize immediate cost savings and productivity boosts to your business.

“This event provides a great opportunity for suppliers and their distributors to meet in-person and connect with multiple business partners all in one place,” said Kevin Gammonley, executive vice president of NBMDA and executive director of NAFCD. “With the launch of registration for this year’s event, we look forward to another year of industry education, business planning and networking in November.”
